Outstanding Librarian of the Year!

Judy Marco, Central City Public Library's Children's Librarian was overwhelmed when recently awarded the Northeast Library System's 'Outstanding Librarian Award'.

Judy has provided exceptional service to Central City's children's program for the past seven years. Her creativity and energy knows no bounds. Her background as an English and Art teacher has been a source of ideas such as: Table Settings By the Books, Ulti-Mutt Reading, Puttin' On The Glitz and many more. This summer Central City kids are attending Nate the Great Detective School, meet Nancy Drew and CSI with Scooby Doo and Hank the Cowdog.

When not planning the Summer Reading Program, Judy visits daycares, pre-schools, and schools to read to children and inform parents, teachers, and children of upcoming events on a monthly basis. She is active with the City Chamber and was recently awarded Commerce Volunteer of the Year.

The Northeast Library System began is pleased to recognize the talented people in our system. A candidate can be nominated for library advocacy or outstanding librarian. The advocacy Award is for a library board member, volunteer, or friend of the library who provides outstanding support and promotion of their library. The Outstanding Librarian Award is for demonstrating initiative and contributions to the library profession. Nominations are made in the spring and the award is presented at the Annual Meeting, if possible.

Microsoft 2007: A FAQ for Nonprofits

If you are considering upgrading your Microsoft Office software, take a moment to read this article at: http://www.techsoup.org/learningcenter/software/page6173.cfm.

Brian Satterfield has outlined what to expect from the new software and answers basic questions such as: What are the new features in Office 2007? What are the system requirements for Office 2007? Are Office 2007 files compatible with older versions of Office?

The office suite has a radically redesigned interface and your staff may need more time to become proficient with it.

Roads to Reading Initiative

Deadline: October 15 and March 15, annually.

The Bi-Annual Program donates books to literacy programs in small and rural low-income communities.

The initiative makes book donations to school, after-school, summer, community, day-care, and library reading and literacy programs. The applicant program must have at least a six-month history; have a tutoring component or a strong focus on remedial reading in a structured environment; hold meetings over a period of time; and be continually and consistently under the direct supervision of professionals, para-professionals, or volunteers.

To be eligible to apply, nonprofit organizations must have 501(c)(3) tax-exempt status and an annual operating budget of less than $95,000. (Schools and libraries are exempt from this budget requirement.) The community where the organization is located must be underserved and have a population of less than 50,000.

The program does not make donations for book-bag programs, gifts, giveaways, events, book clubs, or home-based literacy programs. School districts, lead agencies, or umbrella agencies are not eligible to apply. Each site within group agencies or districts must apply for the donations separately.

On average, a hundred to two hundred books appropriate for toddlers to young adult are awarded per grantee. Books are currently available in English only.

Visit the Roads to Reading Initiative web site for complete program information.

Kids! @ your library® Campaign Tool Kit Grows!

(CHICAGO) The Association for Library Service to Children, a division of the American Library Association, has added new resources to its Kids! @ your library® online tool kit at www.ala.org/kids.

The campaign’s extensive tool kit, produced by librarians for librarians, contains free resources for promoting the library and its services to children and their families. The latest materials added to the kit include:

*Spanish-language resources. The So Much to See. So Much to Do. @ your library® logo is available in Spanish in black and white, color, high and low resolution versions. The list of Top Ten Things for Kids to Do @ your library® also has been translated into Spanish. Print-ready public service advertisements in various sizes, scripts for audio public service announcements and word search puzzles with library themes also are available in Spanish.

*A list of “Top Ten Ways to Use Bill Harley’s “At Your Library” Song in Your Library and Community” provides examples of how libraries can use the upbeat song to grab attention—play the song when classes visit the library, incorporate the song’s short version in morning announcements at school, or air the song during outreach events, such as county fairs, school career days, or family literacy nights.

*A story theater script—The Chicken and the Librarian—adapted by Dianne de Las Casas and used with her permission, can be downloaded and used for library/school/community events.

*Kids! @ your library® Best Practice Wiki at http://wikis.ala.org/alsc/index.php/Kids%21_%40_your_library_Best_Practices_Wiki provides a free, open space where librarians can share how they have used campaign materials within their libraries and communities.

Take a moment to visit the Kids! @ your library® Campaign Web site at www.ala.org/kids and take advantage of the free materials, resources and ideas.

Author Roselyn Ogden Miller visited the Orchard Public Library to discuss her books, "Poor as Church Mice" and "Poor as Church Mice II" on Friday, June 29th. The author's books are about children who traveled to the Midwest on the Orphan Trains.

A generous patron of the Hruska Memorial Library in David City donated a set of Louis L'Amour books. The books have L'Amour's signature on the cover and are bound in brown simulated leather. The library placed them on a silent auction and proceeds will be used for programming.

The Schuyler Public Library invited Earl Bates to portray Will Rogers on July 2nd, 2007. Mr. Bates, a frequent performer at Lincoln's Rose Theater, portrayed Will Rogers and his views of our crazy world.

Columbus Public Library was portrayed in the video, "New World Pop-Up", in Gale's Love Your Library contest. One of five finalists, Dr. Jerry Jirka's video showed the library and staff as if they were in a pop-up book.

Elton Sokuske of Tyndall, SD, visited the Hartington Public Library to sign his autobiography, "The Unknown Star". The book chronicles the experiences he has had as a result of being born with a large birthmark that covers the right side of his face.

Buying & Selling on eBay Class Available

Librarians interested in providing training on Buying & Selling on eBay to their constituents can contact the Northeast Nebraska RC&D in Plainview. The RC&D has worked with several libraries in the area coordinating this training. Usually a two-day/six hour session where participants learn how to set-up eBay and PayPal accounts, and learn the rules and tips on buying and selling.

The number to call in Plainview is 402-582-4866. If you have a computer lab the RC&D will do the advertising, arrange for an instructor (if needed) and do the registration work for you.

HEADS UP! - NLA/NEMA Conference 2007

Outstanding pre-conference workshops as well as two days of stimulating conference sessions will highlight the annual conference of the Nebraska Library Association/Nebraska Educational Media Association. The NLA/NEMA Conference will be held October 24-26 at the Holiday Inn and Convention Center in Kearney.

Internationally respected children's book author and literacy consultant Mem Fox will present, "Dirt Roads or Highways? Two Different Directions to Literacy". The pre-conference workshop will explore the critical role reading aloud to children plays in their social, psychological, educational, and even physical development. Fox will also present, "Reading Aloud So People Stay Awake, Stay Active and Stay with You". The session will involve participants in developing read-aloud skills.

Also available as a pre-conference workshop will be "Image is Everything: Making Partners and Money for Your Library". Presented by Alexis Sarkisian of the LAMA Institute, the workshop will focus on providing librarians with the knowledge, tools, and skills they need to make and use partnerships in their marketing, fundraising, and development efforts.

John Seyfarth will present “Computer Hardware Confidence,” a workshop providing a hands-on opportunity to build a computer from parts and install an operating system. This session will also help participants become familiar with typical troubleshooting and remove-and-replace tasks.

Pre-conference registration information is available on the conference website, or you may register online for the Mem Fox sessions at Read Aloud Nebraska.

A wide array of programming is planned for the two days of conference sessions. Thursday's opening speaker will be Harley Jane Kozak, an author/actress whose screen credits include Arachnophobia, The Favor, and Parenthood. Her books include Dating Dead Men and Dating is Murder.

Friday’s keynote speaker will be Joel Sartore, a National Geographic photographer who was recently featured on the PBS documentary At Close Range. He is also the author of Nebraska: Under a Big Red Sky.

Mark your calendar now to participate in this exciting, energizing conference. For more information check the conference website: http://www.2007nla-nema.info/.

The Reviewer's Chair

Up, Down and Around
by Katherine Ayres

This is a rhyming narrative of two children who help to plant, water and harvest a vegetable garden and while they work they also learn how vegetables grow. Some growing up, others down and yet other twist around and around. Colorful ink & watercolor illustrations include many snails, caterpillars, birds, bugs, and worms add interest to this upbeat story, which would also be useful in the classroom with a unit on gardens or vegetables.

Written for Preschool – 2nd grade this is a neat science learning tool.

Chase
By Jessie Haas

Phin Chase was at the wrong place at the wrong time. He loved to go Mr. Engelbreit to read his books. He would go without sleep, just so he could read the books. But one morning, the men know as the “Sleepers” came to Mr. Engelbreit’s cabin, where they shot and killed Mr. Engelbreit. Then the men turn the story around and claim it was Phin who had pulled the trigger. Phin is on the run, not knowing who to trust or where to go.

At every turn there is the big black horse that can smell him out and makes being on the run, really difficult.

This is a book for reluctant readers, fast moving and interesting. Definite purchase for libraries that are looking for a good book boys will want to read. Grades 4-6

~~Marilyn Quance, WSC

Tantalize
by Cynthia Leitich Smith

Tantalize is a dark fantasy. The main character, Quincie Morris, is an orphan. She is helping her free-spirited uncle and his vampire wanna be girlfriend, run the family restaurant. They are trying to change the restaurant into a vampire theme. After their chef is brutally killed by what appears to be werewolves, Quincie has to train a new chef, Henry Johnson. Henry is friendly and doesn’t seem to be good at acting like a vampire chef.

Quincie loves her boyfriend, Kieren, who is half werewolf. She knows that he has to go away to join a pack to be able to survive in this world.

This story is full of mystery and has a surprise ending. It may be good for high school or adult level readers.

~~Claudette Wielechowski, North Platte, NE

Quiet, Loud
by Leslie Patricelli

This is a cute, simple board book about a toddler’s perspective of the quiet and loud things in his world. The expressions on the character are sure to bring a smile to young one’s faces.

The simple text makes this an “easy read” for even a preschooler. This is recommended for any collection.

~~Heather Reid, homeschool teacher, Omaha, NE

Dirk Bones and the Mystery of the Haunted House
By Dough Cushman

A skeleton news reporter goes on an investigation to find out who or what is making strange noises. The noise takes the reporter on a creepy hunt. The reporter finds out what is making the noise and writes his article for the newspaper, and the rest of the town is grateful to be able to rest again.

This book is good for first grade readers and both school and public collection. This is a good beginner reader book. I would bring this book out around Halloween for the children to read.

The Story of a Seagull and the Cat Who Taught Her to Fly
By Luis Sepulveda

A seagull, covered in oil from an oil slick and dying, makes her last flight to the balcony of Zorba the Cat. Zorba promises the gull that he will care for the egg until it hatches, raise the chick and then teach it to fly.

This book is good for readers in grades 4-6. This is a wonderful tale about the character Zorba the Cat, that makes a promise and goes to extreme lengths to fulfill that promise. This is a nice lesson for today's children.

~~Deb Daehnke, Wayne State College

Naptime for Slippers
By Andrew Clements

Instead of taking a nap Slippers follows his nose to track down all the interesting smells he associates with his human family.

This is a good book for readers that are 3-8 years of age. This is a good book for any home collection. This story is sure to delight young listeners and readers. Children love their pets and will enjoy recounting the antics of their own pets. This book will proved a great way to get children to share their experiences.

~~Latricia Olson, Randolph Public School

Ruby Gloom’s Keys to Happiness
By Clam Lynch

This is a book of advice for Happiness. Written in the style of Lemony Snicket’s Series of Unfortunates, it tries to give advice in a negative way using dark, unhappy illustrations.

This book is not recommended for any library collection. I don’t like this type of book. I think our young people see enough negativity without handling them another book with it on every page. I don’t like black. I don’t like the tone the book is written in.

~~Karma Ragland, Red Cloud, NE

Pearl and Wagner: Three Secrets
By Kate McMullen

Three friends tell each other some secrets and learn that some secrets are ok and some can hurt each other.

This book is recommended for readers between the ages of 6-8 and also any public library collection. This book contains bold pictures and nice large print. Cute stories about secrets and how kids find secrets so important.

~~Angie Vavra, Pierce, NE

Just for You to Know
By Cheryl Harness

In the summer before her first year in junior high, Carmen Carthcart’s parents move their family of eight, once again, this time to the sleepy town of Independence, MO. If that isn’t bad enough, Carmen finds out (in a drive-thru stop) that her mom is pregnant, again. The real story begins, though, when her mother dies in childbirth. As the oldest, Carmen is forced to take on the responsibilities of her mother, while struggling to keep up in school. Her father retreats into himself and buries himself in work and alcohol, providing little help.

In a book that is both funny and sad, Harness does an excellent job of portraying the life of a young girl struggling to deal with the loss of a parent.

~~Amanda Limoges, Eastern Township Library

The Boy Who Cried Fabulous
By Leslea Newman

Roger was very curious about everything! And everything was Fabulous to him. He could never get anywhere on time because everything was sooooo Fabulous. His habit of being late made his teacher and his parents very angry. At last, his parents forbid him to say the word Fabulous. But that doesn’t stop Roger from enjoying everything he sees.

This is a lighthearted book that you will like.

PLEASE SUPPORT OUR ADVERTISERS...
Humanities Council Seeks Grant Proposals for New Program: The Good Life: Rural-Urban-Suburban

The face of Nebraska continues to change, and the Nebraska Humanities Council is making grants available for the purpose of understanding the demographic shift from rural to urban to suburban through public programs involving the humanities.

Identity and Sense of Place
What does it mean for a state's identity to change for a state whose symbols have been Cornhuskers and Beef State to also be the home of five Fortune 500 corporations and suburban sprawl? How do metropolitan dwellers perceive themselves in a state known for its agricultural heritage?

Rural culture
Some cities are complimentarily described as having a small town feel. How are values we associate with rural culture - a connection to the land, appreciation for diligence and hard work, and a sense of community, friendliness and safety - portable to contemporary, urban society? How have small towns been successful at incorporating the best of contemporary, urban society without sacrificing their rural qualities? The NHC encourages programs that explore what rural, suburban and urban Nebraska have in common and how these common themes can be used to link the three and strengthen our state.

Technology and Nebraska
The rapid advances today in communications technology, including the Internet, may increase the flexibility of where we can live in relation to where we work and where we learn. Many young people leave rural areas and small towns for educational and professional opportunities, leaving a growing proportion of aging residents who may feel isolated. How can technology and other resources encourage young people to choose the option of rural/small town life and reduce the sense of isolation? The NHC is interested in programs that explore the impact that technology will have on the connection between rural, urban and suburban Nebraska.

Resources and conflict
All communities share the need for access to resources as diverse as water, transportation, telecommunications, education, law enforcement, and health care. Increasing suburban sprawl requires a serious look at land-use planning to encourage wise use of resources, preserve the environment, reduce conflict and best serve all Nebraskans. The council encourages proposals for projects that will enhance public understanding and discussion of the underlying ethical, economic, social and political values shaping decisions we make to determine allocation of resources.

Proposals will be strengthened by:
- Using creative methods to bring groups together to facilitate understanding.
- Encouraging civic discussion of issues facing communities that will help shape public policy.
- Involving elected or appointed officials in public policy discussions.
- Planning for sustainability of the project beyond the period of the grant.
- Addressing an audience that has been underserved by humanities programming.

Application deadlines
Major Grants: March 1 and Aug. 1
Mini Grants ($1,500 ceiling): Jan. 1, March 1, May 1, July 1, Sept. 1, Nov. 1
Grant policies and applications are available at www.nebraskahumanities.org. The NHC encourages interested parties to contact Program Officer Mary Yager for advice in developing a proposal at mary@nebraskahumanities.org or 402-474-2131.

Welcome, New System Board Members

The following people were recently elected to the Northeast Library System Board:

Lynn Manhart, Central City Public Library
Elaine Tobias, Pilger Public Library
Sharon Jones, Genoa Public Library
Chris Chilcoat, Stanton Community Schools
Kathy Ageton, Lutheran High Northeast

These folks represent your communities at System Board Meetings. They appreciate hearing from you regarding library related issues. We want to thank all who agreed to run for Library System Board openings. Serving on the board is a commitment of both time and talent that is greatly appreciated.
The Northeast Library System held its annual banquet and meeting Thursday, June 7 at Wayne State College. System Administrator, Kathy Ellerton, welcomed the group.

Board President, Lauran Lofgren called the meeting to order. Board members present were Lauran Lofgren, Kate Ostenrude, Ann Bachman, Laurie Rehnstrom, Michele Hastreiter, Sharon Jones, Linda Risinger, Sally Stahlecker, Marilyn Quance, Jolene Klein, and Dee Johnson. Joyce Sullivan & Kay Schmid were not in attendance.

Administrator: Kathy Ellerton shared that Playaway titles and a portable DVD player are available for checkout from the System office. She recognized four retiring board members and thanked them for their service to the NLS: Laurie Rehnstrom, Lauran Lofgren, Marilyn Quance, & Linda Risinger.

Nominating committee: New board members elected were: Population under 1,000 – Sharon Jones, Genoa Public Library & Elaine Tobias, Pilger Public Library. Populations under 10,000 – Lynn Manhart, Central City Public Library. Population over 10,000 – Kathy Ageton, Lutheran High School in Norfolk. School media specialist – Chris Chilcoat, Stanton Schools, and academic representative – Dee Johnson, Central Community College.

The committee announced the new System Board Officers: President, Sharon Jones, Vice-president, Ann Bachman, and Kate Ostenrude, Secretary.

Marilyn Quance updated the group and urged libraries to continue to borrow books from the examination center located at W.S.C. A great way to supplement the library’s juvenile collection.

Announcements: The July System Board meeting will be held in Ponca.

Claims of the day: A motion was made to accept the claims of the day (MS: Quance, Ostenrude) Motion carried by roll-call vote.

Respectfully submitted,
Dee Johnson

"You have to love a nation that celebrates its independence every July 4, not with a parade of guns, tanks, and soldiers who file by the White House in a show of strength and muscle, but with family picnics where kids throw Frisbees, the potato salad gets iffy, and the flies die from happiness. You may think you have overeaten, but it is patriotism."
